1 ON 02/23/02 @ 0325 HRS REPORTING OFFICER GOIN WAS NOTIFIED OF A 2 SHOOTING THAT OCCURRED ON U.S. 377 WEST AND THE VICTIM WOULD BE AT 3 MEYERS QUICK STOP GROCERY IN TOLAR. UPON ARRIVAL AT THIS LOCATION,
4 CARE FLITE HAD JUST ARRIVED AND TRANSPORTED THE VICTIM TO HARRIS
5 HOSPITAL IN FORT WORTH. REPORTEDLY, THE VICTIM IDENTIFIED AS RICHARD
6 WEAVER, W/M, D.O.B. 12/20/79, HAD A GUN SHOT WOUND TO THE LOWER LEFT
7 ABDOMEN, WAS STABLE, AND THE WOUND DIDN'T APPEAR TO BE LIFE
8 THREATENING.

10 THE WITNESSES TO THIS INCIDENT WERE THEN INTERVIEWED AND WRITTEN
11 STATEMENTS WERE OBTAINED. THEY ALL STATED THEY'D BEEN TO J.J'S
12 HIWAY IN FT. WORTH TO ATTEND A BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR A FRIEND AND WERE
13 RETURNING TO STEPHENVILLE. NEAR THE ELECTRIC SUB STATION AT U.S. 377
14 THEY OBSERVED A PICKUP SITTING ON THE SHOULDER FACING THE OPPOSITE
15 DIRECTION. AS THEY APPROACHED THE TRUCK FLASHED HIS HEADLIGHTS AND 16 THINKING HE NEEDED TO STOP, THEY TURNED AROUND TO SEE IF THEY COULD
17 ASSIST. THE DRIVER OF THE TRUCK SAID HE HAD ENGINE TROUBLE AND ASKED 18 IF THEY HAD ANY TOOLS. STEPHEN ANCIRA TOLD THE DRIVER HE DIDN'T HAVE
19 ANY TOOLS AND BEGAN TO LEAVE. HE SAID THE DRIVER OPENED THE TAILGATE
20 OF THE PICKUP AND GOT IN THE BED OF THE TRUCK STARTED OPENING THE 21 TOOL BOX AS THEY WERE LEAVING. AT ABOUT THAT TIME STEPHEN HEARD WHAT 22 APPEARED TO BE GUNSHOTS THEN DISCOVERED RICHARD WEAVER, SEATED IN THE
23 REAR SEAT, HAD BEEN SHOT. THEY CALLED 911 AND WAS INSTRUCTED TO GO
24 TO MEYERS QUICK STOP AND AWAIT THE AMBULANCE.

26 AN EXAMINATION OF THE VICTIMS VEHICLE REVEALED A SINGLE GUN SHOT
27 ENTERING THE TRUCK AREA, SEPARATING, AND TWO HOLES PENETRATING THE
28 BACK SEAT. THERE WAS EVIDENCE OF A POSSIBLE SECOND SHOT GLANCING OFF
29 THE REAR WINDOW.

31 CHIEF INV. GOIN THEN WENT TO HARRIS HOSPITAL, INTERVIEWED THE VICTIM, 32 AND COLLECTED HIS SHIRT AS EVIDENCE. HE WAS RELEASED FROM THE
33 HOSPITAL TO HIS PARENTS. THERE WERE TWO WOUNDS IN THE LOWER LEFT 34 ABDOMEN AREA BUT ONLY ONE PIECE OF SHRAPNEL WAS LOCATED.

35
36 CHIEF INV. GOIN THEN RETURNED TO THE REPORTED AREA OF THE OFFENSE AND
37 COLLECTED SEVERAL PIECES OF POSSIBLE EVIDENCE BUT THE BULLET CASING
38 WAS NOT LOCATED. ALL EVIDENCE COLLECTED WAS CATALOGED, PHOTOGRAPHED, 39 AND PLACED INTO EVIDENCE. SEE INVENTORY SHEET FOR A LIST OF THESE 40 ITEMS.

41 /da

42

43

44 ITEM #6 ON THE INVENTORY LIST IS A WHITE HARD HAT WITH THE 45 COMPANY NAME OF CSS, INC. GATESVILLE, TEXAS, GENERAL CONTRACTOR.
46 GATESVILLE PD WAS CONTACTED AT [REDACTED] AND REQUESTED TO CHECK
47 WITH CSS, INC. AND DETERMINE WHY "CHUCK" LOST HIS HARD HAT AND TO 48 DETERMINE IF THIS HAD ANYTHING TO DO WITH THIS OFFENSE.

49

50 ITEM #11 IS AN EXPIRED LICENSE PLATE MHP22L REGISTERED TO CARRIE 51 DAVIS WHO IS CURRENTLY IN HOOD COUNTY JAIL. SHE WAS INTERVIEWED ON 52 02/25/02 AND STATED THAT SHE'D GIVEN THIS VEHICLE TO STANLEY THOMAS 53 OVER A YEAR AGO BECAUSE IT WAS INOPERABLE. THE PHONE NUMBER FOR 54 THOMAS 910-1159 HAS BEEN DISCONNECTED AND CONTACT HAS NOT BEEN MADE.

To bad for me,
although the FWPDCL would've probably just said it was mine anyways..

1 ON 10/04/02 (REVIEWED THIS CASE AND HAV CLOSED IT FOR LACK OF
2 ANY NEW INFORMATION. THE GIRLFRIEND OF THE SUSPECT HAS NOT BEEN 3 CONTACTED BECAUSE THERE IS INSUFFICIENT INFORMATION TO CONDUCT AN 4 INTERVIEW WITH HER.

5 ON 10/31/02 INV. HUBBARD WITH THE TARRANT COUNTY D.A. OFFICE
6 REQUESTED A COPY OF THE CASE FILE BE FAXED TO HIM TO ASSIST IN THE 7 PROSECUTION OF A SIMILIAR CASE IN TARRANT COUNTY.

We were traveling toward Tolar when a single cab golden (Gmc/chevy) the cab pick-up flashed up down. We pulled over to help and started to leave when we heard several gunshots. The person was a white male about 5'9", 160lbs. with black hair. My friend batted forward and I assumed he was shot. I raised his shirt & saw two small puncture wounds & we shortly thereafter pulled into the Tolar Texaco. We then called 911 & we ~~at~~ were shortly met by some firemen^{wh} then went for medical supplies, showed back up & took over.

I have read each page of this statement consisting of 1 pages, each page of which bears my signature, my corrections, if any, bear my initials, and certify the facts contained herein are true and correct.

As 4 other passengers and I were traveling on 377 W, There was oncoming Truck headed Towards us, he was flashing his bright head lights and he came to a complete stop. So I thought he was ~~in~~ in need of assistance. In we turned around and asked if we could help. He needed tools for engine work. I told him I didn't have any tools. And got in my car and started to leave. As we left a couple of seconds later we heard a loud pop. And I looked back and saw my friend Rick, as he arched his back. The guy in the truck was a shaggy brown hair and about 150 lbs. height was 5'6". It was a new Truck, Step side, Tan or champagne color, Single cab, also a girl up front of truck. She had Dark hair.

We were coming from Grandbury on 377 ~~to~~ back to Stephenville. Little ways from the Texaco Gas Station. A ^(late 90s early 2000) New Silverado flashed lights & had emergency lights on. (The truck had silver tool box and look like some engine parts of a boat in the back.) ~~the~~ when we saw the lights flashing on truck we stopped, waited a couple of minutes then turned around. We were pulled up behind the truck and the guy got out. He was probably about 5'7"-5'10", short brownish hair. He was wearing jeans. I don't remember what kind of shirt exactly. He looked to ~~to~~ have been drunk or something. He was staggering as ~~to~~ he walked over to guy needed. I heard him ^{ask} something about getting help with, I thought his truck. Stephen told him he didn't have any tools, and Stephen said he was sorry. ~~When~~ Stephen got back in the car & the guy started walking to the back of his truck. He opened the tailgate, got in the back of the truck & went to the silver tool box he had on the truck. By that time Stephen was turning the car back around. That is when I heard something 'pop'. Then I realized what it was and heard more shots fired. The truck was a single cab, step side. It was a Silverado. Silver-of Tulsa. Gray asked me to take his place holding Rick's left shoulder!

I thought he was paranoid! Then I touch Rick's left shoulder in hand.
I felt his warm blood... then look back at the seat & saw the bullet holes! we called 911 on my cell phone and the rest happened as fast

DOC 50; NEW: DELEON'S & HUBBARD'S INV. RPT. (11-26-02)

1 HOOD COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE

2 Attempted Murder # S0210782

3 Offense Date 2-23-02 02:56 hrs.

6 On 10-16-02, Tarrant County District Attorney's Investigator John Hubbard #236 was asked by 7 Prosecutor Michele Hartmann to contact Hood County Sheriff's Office Investigator Larry Goin
8 to obtain the case file referenced above Hood County Sheriff's Office Offense #S0201782.

10 The Tarrant County District Attorney's Office has pending attempted Capital Murder case #'s
11 0836979A and 0836985A against defendant Barton Ray Gaines, D.O.B. 10-25-82. These cases
12 stem from Fort Worth Police Department Offense # 02132262.

13

14 Assistant District Attorney Hartmann had information from Fort Worth Police Department
15 Detective C. B. Smith, #2214, that there were similarities between the Fort Worth cases and the 16 Hood County offense and felt defendant Barton Gaines was a strong suspect.

17

18 Through a process of several contacts back and forth with Investigator Goin, Investigator 19 Hubbard obtained the Hood County case file on November 19, 2002.

21 On Monday, 11-25-02, Investigator Hubbard was able to contact by phone Stephen Ancira and 22 Gregory Peterson. They arranged for a meeting with all parties from the Hood County offense
23 for Tuesday, 11-26-02, 5:00 p.m. in Stephenville, Texas at the Cotton Patch Restaurant.

24

25 On Tuesday, 11-26-02, Tarrant County District Attorney's Investigators John Hubbard and Juan 26 DeLeon traveled to Stephenville, Texas and met with:

27

28 Stephen Arthur Ancira

29 Jheen Ancira

30 Gregory Allen Peterson

31 Richard Lee Weaver

32 Joel Cole Chandler

33

34

35 Stephen Ancira handed Investigators Hubbard and DeLeon a piece of a jacketed bullet that he 36 stated he found in the trunk of his car since the shooting. This item was placed in an envelope, 37 sealed and marked with both Investigator's initials as evidence and is being secured at the 38 Tarrant County District Attorney's Office until Hood County Sheriff's Office can be contacted 39 and/or forensic testing be done.

40  How convenient. Flip-flopper!

41 Stephen Ancira recanted the details of the offense and reported to Hood County Sheriff's Office.
42 He did state they had stopped thinking the occupants of the truck were broken down or were in 43 need of help. His brief contact with the W/M suspect consisted of the suspect asking him for 44 "truck motor tools". Ancira thought it was strange the suspect used this verbage and didn't just 45 ask for tools in general. Ancira had pulled close to the suspect's truck, exited his vehicle and 46 spoke to the suspect who had exited his truck. Ancira also advised there was a dark haired W/F

1 in the suspect's truck. Ancira had no conversation with her. Ancira advised the suspect he had 2 no tools. Suspect didn't say anything else. Ancira felt a little concerned at this point and left.
3 Ancira got in his car and started to leave. In doing so, he observed the suspect get into the bed of 4 his truck and open the toolbox. As he drove away he heard a bang and knew something had hit
5 his car. Richard Weaver in the middle back seat groaned and slumped over. They realized he 6 had been shot. They sped away, called 9-1-1 and were instructed to go to a nearby store and 7 await help.

9 Jheen Ancira (wife of Stephen) stated that she had remained in the vehicle during the incident,
10 but had observed the W/M suspect in close proximity as the suspect and Stephen Ancira had 11 briefly spoken.

12
13 Gregory Peterson had also remained in the vehicle and had also observed the W/M suspect in 14 close proximity.

15
16 Richard Weaver and Joel Chandler had also remained in the car during the incident. Both were 17 asleep.

18
19 Investigator's Hubbard and DeLeon along with the witnesses relocated to the Erath County
20 Sheriff's Office in Stephenville. Investigators Hubbard and DeLeon separated witnesses 21 Stephen Ancira, Jheen Ancira and Gregory Peterson, for the purpose of individually and 22 separately showing them photospreads.

24 Investigators presented Gregory Peterson a photospread with a photo of Barton Ray Gaines in 25 the #5 position. Peterson picked the photo in the #2 position.

26
27 Investigators then presented Jheen Ancira a photospread with a photo of Barton Ray Gaines in 28 the #6 position. Jheen Ancira appeared to carefully study each photo with equal consideration.
29 She then pointed to the picture of Barton Ray Gaines in the #6 position and stated "it's been a 30 long time ago, this one keeps jumping out at me. I'm pretty sure he's the one."

31
32 Investigators then presented Stephen Ancira a photospread with a photo of Barton Ray Gaines in 33 the #3 position. Stephen Ancira picked the photo in the #6 position..

34
35 Good, current address and contact information was obtained from each witness and the meeting
36 was concluded.

37
38 Investigators Hubbard and DeLeon retained the photospreads and bullet fragment as evidence.

Place to Take Someone From Austin

Readers' choice: Fort Worth Stockyards

Critic's choice: Fort Worth Zoo

A quick Google session shows the Austin Zoo has difficulty keeping customers happy. Its user rating of three stars is abysmal. Online horror stories about poor customer service make for fun reading, and it's not just the surly staff that pisses people off. To be fair, Austin's zoo does great work – it's a nonprofit rescue and animal sanctuary. But it just doesn't compare to our zoo, which, by the way, received a user rating of four and a half stars. Founded in 1909, Fort Worth Zoo offers 5,000 animals (compared to Austin's 300) and is the state's oldest continuous zoo site. (And if that doesn't impress, take 'em down to Fossil Rim near Glen Rose and show 'em how real Texans keep their wild animals: blocking the road and holding you up for chow.)

Happy Hour

Readers' choice: Blue Mesa Grill, 1600 S University Dr, FW

Critic's choice: The Blue Grotto, 517 University Dr, FW

The dark, candlelit bar has something of a split personality, torn between an intimate café and a sports bar. But from 5 to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday and all day Sunday the Grotto shines: $1.50 drafts, $2 domestic bottles, $3 import bottles, $3 well drinks, and $4 wines by the glass. The place is owned and operated by a couple of wine snobs, so their list far exceeds most bars' in selection and quality.

Bartender

Readers' choice: Brad Hensarling, Chat Room Pub, 1263 W Magnolia Av, FW

Critic's choice: Peter Whipple, J&J's Hideaway, 3305 W 7th St, FW

This is more of a lifetime achievement award, as Whipple has been holding court on the West Side for as long as we can remember (and in the drinking biz, that can become cloudy over time). Back in the day, Whipple was a party animal, chasing TCU cuties and hanging out with Westside trust-fund babies. He's still a lot of fun. Given that the Museum Place is going to make "JJ's" history in a few months, Whipple is more than deserving of this honor.

typically dodges such BS.

Karaoke Night

Readers' choice: Silverado Room at the Neon Moon

Saloon, 2509 Rodeo Plaza, FW

Critic's choice: Cowtown Bowling Center, 4333 River Oaks Blvd, FW

Long before it degenerated into sorority girls screeching in tandem to "Total Eclipse of the Heart," karaoke was the realm of Japanese businessmen in love with country music. There's something inherently kitschy and distinctly American about 1980s Honda execs butchering Glen Campbell songs – which is why, in addition to its antique-ish alleys, Cowtown Lanes has a karaoke night. Instead of stepping up to the line, step up to the mic, pick your favorite Reba tune, and try to hang with the best boot-scootin' impersonators that River Oaks has to offer. But don't be a clown – these folks take their cowboy crooning seriously. Part 'Merican Idol, part episode of Roseanne,

Band Name

Readers' Choice: Flickerstick

Critic's Choice: The Tony Danza Tap Dance Extravaganza.

Breathtaking in its brilliance. The name of this Murfreesboro, Tenn., metal band does everything. It rhymes. It makes a pop-culture reference. It conjures up a memorable image. It even refers to the fact that Tony Danza actually does tap dance. Honorable mention to Dallas' The Winter of Our Disco Intent.

Local Music Show of Last 12 Months

Readers' choice: The Uncle Bill Roach Band at The Texas Music Festival

Critic's choice: "Rock'n For a Cure," 6th Street Live

The Red Herrings, Darth Vato, Thief (now Peter Black and the Lifters), and The Burning Hotels all donated their time and amplitude to this fund-raiser for childhood leukemia and lymphoma.

Organized by Ryan Kelley, Rock'n For a Cure's founder and sole employee, the show sounded great, everyone was in high spirits, and more than $5,000 was raised via a $12 cover charge and corporate donations.

MVP Musician

Readers' choice: Tim Locke of Flickerstick, Coma Rally, and Calhoun

Critic's choice: Andre "Dré" Edmondson

As the TV commercial says, Edmondson doesn't make the music — he makes it better. Dré, as most local musos know him, has unmatched skills as a sound guy. The Wreck Room is his home, and he's been there as long as the place has been open, a little over 10 years. The club is slated to be hosts bands three or four times a week, and the beautiful people come in droves to dance, drink, and defy the Texas heat.

Bar Bathroom

Readers' choice: The Shamrock Pub, 2710 W 7th St, FW

Critic's choice: Wreck Room, 3208 W 7th St, FW

Since the Wreck is closing this month, here's a little shout-out for the two men's rooms between the bar and the stage. True, the sink taps don't always work, toilet paper might or might not be there, and the plumbing has its problems. But every band in town puts up promo material in there, along with crazy drawings and comments. Our favorite was up a few years ago, when someone wrote that "Dan McGraw hates Ebola." We checked with Weekly staffer McGraw, who acknowledges he does hate Ebola, along with other diseases. He doesn't discriminate.

Bouncer

Readers's choice: Brent Peck, Neon Moon Saloon, 2509 Rodeo Plaza

Critic's choice: Roderick Love, The Wreck Room

The Wreck Room has rarely had fight problems, and that's quite rare in the biz, especially when a bar caters to the younger music crowd. Bouncer Roderick Love is part of the reason for the easy peace. Rod's a mixed martial arts fighter, but he saves that for the Octagon. Instead, at the club, he is energetic and bright, talkative and funny. If someone needs to leave, Rod knows how to ask without being threatening. But everyone also knows Rod could make you tap out if he had to.

Country Venue

Readers' choice: Billy Bob's Texas, 2520 Rodeo Plaza, FW

Critic's choice: Pearl's Dancehall & Saloon,
302 W Exchange Av, FW

This joint comes by its cool vibe honestly. It evolved from an old brothel and features some of the best country musicians around, from mavericks like Dale Watson and Cornell Hurd to blasts from the pasts such as Johnny Bush. The bar can get wild once in a while, but this is generally a friendly place. Last year, a Weekly reporter stumbled into Pearl's shortly after midnight on a Tuesday and discovered the bar was already closed. But the barkeep served us up a couple of beers anyway, even though it meant she had to work longer than expected. Now, that's service.

Acoustic Night

Critic's choice: Acoustic Song Circle at MacHenry's,
1408 W Magnolia Av, FW

Musicians settle in each Tuesday for a good old-fashioned "guitar pull" – sitting in a circle, performing songs, accompanying one another, showin' off, catching a buzz, cracking jokes. Guitar pulls by nature can get sloppy when booze and egos collide, but the laid-back, friendly, and talent-laden MacHenry's

Meat-Market Bar

Critic's choice: Embargo, 210 E 8th St, FW

Don't think that the meat-market designation means we're looking down our noses at reg'lar folks who're hooking up. After all, it's probably just loneliness and jealousy on our part. And at Embargo, it's not just the bourgeois hooking up – a lot of the pretty people end their evenings with other pretty people there. Former co-owner Brian Forella and current owner Andrew del la Torre opened Embargo around the time that Forella's Torch fell under the bulldozer's blade. As a result, the Torch's meat-marketeters relocated to Calhoun Street, where they found more room, more Caribbean décor, and more, uh, possibilities. Embargo may not thump with hypersexed R&B jams, but its understated cool makes it a prime spot to play the old game.

Jukebox

Readers' choice: Caves Lounge, 900 W Division St, Arlington

Critic's choice: Malone's Pub, 1303 Calhoun St, FW

For those old souls who still judge a place by what's on the jukebox, and hate those touch-screen internet jobs that allow anyone to come in and spoil the vibe, Malone's Pub downtown is like a beacon in the fog. They've got it all: classic funk, hard rock, prog rock, old school hip-hop, and plenty of local stuff. More importantly, they have an old-style box, brimming with taste and a song for every mood.

Bar Games

Readers' choice: Fox & Hound English Pub & Grille, 604 Main St, FW

Place to Shoot Pool

Readers' choice: Rack Daddy's, 4701 Citylake Blvd E, FW

Critic's Choice: J.J. Dakota's Billiards, Etc., 9112 Camp Bowie Blvd W, FW

A couple of years ago, when J.J. Dakota's was new, it didn't quite feel like a pool hall/bar. Now that it's broken in, it feels and smells just like it should: stale cigarettes and beer, a bit gnarly, populated by the sorts of people your mother spent 18 years warning you to avoid. But if you like pool (more than a dozen tables that have been drooled on by drunks), foosball (three well-worn tables that still have lots of grease in the ball bearings), darts, electronic darts, bar-shuffleboard, or Pac-Man, there's no place as much fun for sucking down a beer in company with probationers and parolees.

Outdoor Party Patio

Readers' choice: 8.0, 111 E 3rd St, FW

Critic's choice: 8.0

The 8.0 has anchored the downtown party scene for more than two decades now. The spacious patio

Cheap Beer

Readers' choice: Neon Moon Saloon, 2509 Rodeo Plaza, FW

Critic's choice: West Exchange complex, Stockyards, FW

This entertainment complex in the Stockyards has cut out the Monday-through-Wednesday-night action, but the happy hour on the other evenings is still a great deal. Many bars offer tasteless draft beer on the cheap, but it takes a lot of those watered-down mugs to get even a little buzz going. West Exchange charges just $1.50 for any bottled beer from 5 to 8 p.m. so that Shiner Bock arrives for about half the price that everyone else is charging. Ten bucks goes a long way here for decent brewskis.

Margarita

Readers' choice: Joe T Garcia's, 2201 N Commerce St, FW

Critic's choice: Chimy's, 1053 Foch St, FW

Frozen confections laced with tequila rarely taste better than when consumed at an outdoor patio while sitting under a big shade umbrella and engaging in friendly banter. And at only $4.50 each, the price at Chimy's is more than right. Besides, you and your mates can riff on the street name out front: "They should build a college next door and call it Foch U." Sure, this type of banter sounds stale in the sober light of day, but after a few of Chimy's cold, refreshing delights, it's gold, I tell ya – gold!

Martini

Readers' choice: Ten, 835 Foch St, FW

Critic's choice: Finn MacCool's Pub, 1700 8th Av, FW

H. L. Mencken called the martini the "only American invention as perfect as the sonnet." It was the favored drink of such larger-than-life luminaries as Churchill, FDR, Truman Capote, Scott Fitzgerald, Hemingway, and, of course, fictional sophisticates such as James Bond and Nick Charles, all of whom savored the original version made from gin and a whiff of dry vermouth. (Churchill is said to have mixed his by only glancing at the vermouth bottle across the room.) One can only wonder what these purists would think if their beloved cocktail was made with anything other than the fruit of the juniper, like, oh say, vodka and apple schnapps, or (gasp!) vodka and Godiva chocolate liqueur. But never fear, gin lovers: Finn MacCool's serves up an original dry martini that would make these old dead guys proud, made with good gin, a swirl of vermouth, stirred (not shaken) and served chilled with one olive (which may have been Nick Charles' only daily nourishment.) For non-traditionalists, this friendly neighborhood bar offers many vodka variations as well. The Godiva chocolate martini, by the way, is rich and smooth and passes for a fine, slow-sipped after-dinner drink. And the apple schnapps? Downright delish.

Oh, and there are lots of checkerboards built into tables, just in case you're actually English. Did we mention that lots of good-looking young types like to hang out there?

Unexpected Place to See and Be Seen

Critic's choice: Los Alamos Café, 1446 N Main St, FW

Aguilera's gets all of the attention as the North Side's lunchtime hideaway for local politicians and pseudo-celebrities. But lately, the cool crowd has adopted another nearby eatery as the place to be. Los Alamos debuted in 1959 and is one of the city's oldest family-owned restaurants. Willie Nelson ate there in the 1960s. Radio personality Kidd Kraddick and State Rep. Lon Burnam make random visits. City Councilman Sal Espino munches there, while Louis Zapata, the city's first Hispanic councilman, has been a fixture for decades. Former Speaker of the U.S. House Jim Wright chowed down on cheese enchiladas there this summer. But the best characters are in-house, including the sibling owners – genial Alex and his eccentric, scooter-riding brother Alfred – and their secret weapon, the charming waitress Norma.

Internet Bar

Critic's choice: Chat Room Pub, 1263 W Magnolia Av, FW

Drunken e-mailing has officially replaced the time-honored tradition of drunken dialing as the No. 1 Thing You'll Regret When You're Sober. Thanks to the Chat's Wi-Fi hot-spot, patrons don't have to wait until they get home to start talking shit or stalking crushes via e-mail.

Strip Joint

Readers' choice: New Orleans Nights, 7101 Calmont Av, FW

Critic's choice: New Orleans Nights

New Orleans Nights is the obvious – and appropriate – choice for a variety of reasons: The food is really good, the clientele is fun but respectful, and the "entertainers" (don't call them strippers) are by far the hottest and most acrobatic around. The drinks are still far too expensive, but for guys, they're worth every drop – for an intimate, $20 conversation with a young woman just working her way through college.

Exotic Dancer

Readers' choice: Chastity at Jaguars Gold Club, 12325

Calloway Cemetery Rd, Euless

Critic's choice: Hannah at Illusions Cabaret, 7405 Camp Bowie Blvd W, FW

At less than four feet in height, Hannah is fast becoming the nude scene's hottest phenom. She may have less body to work with than the statuesque types, but she makes the most of what she's got.

Critic's choice: Papparotti's Wine Room, 6100 Camp Bowie Blvd, FW

Papparotti's walks a fine line between elegant and quaint. The red walls, leather couches, and smooove ambiance give the place a classic, stylish look – but it's not the least bit pretentious. The wine list features dozens of labels from all over the world – prices range from $7 to $12 by the glass and $29 to $179 per bottle. The menu of sophisticated tapas was designed to complement the wine. Plus, the staff is friendly and supremely knowledgeable.

Bar Bar

Readers' choice: The Pour House, 209 W 5th St, FW

Critic's choice: The Moon, 2911 W Berry St, FW

In a city of nearly half a million people, you should be able to find a place where everybody knows your name, the drinks aren't wimpy, the service is friendly, and the scenery looks better as the night wears on. Enter: The Moon. While its raison d'être is live music on the weekends, on weeknights it's a pretty cool place to hang with your chums, talk about the dating life, or torture people with your horrible musical tastes. The newly remodeled and reoriented bar makes for faster service, the brand-new sound system ensures your friend's band sounds decent, and, with a steady flow of college students, your woulda-coulda-shoulda stories are easily inspired. Plus, when you combine a black t-shirt with the glow of the soft green lights, you actually look slimmer! No kidding! Striking out is your fault, darlin'.

Hotel Bar

Readers' choice: Renaissance Worthington Hotel, 200 Main St, FW

Critic's choice: Booger Red's Saloon in the Stockyards Hotel, 105 E Exchange Av, FW

Since 1907, the Stockyards Hotel has been a tourist destination, with a guest book that features Bonnie and Clyde, among others. To be sure, the outlaw duo would have appreciated Booger Red's Saloon, which opened in 1984. The Western-themed bar, attached to the H3 Ranch Grill, features saddle bar stools and the famed Buffalo Butt Beer, named after the giant stuffed beast whose shaggy rump extends high above the bar. Some folks have been known to get thrown from the saddle after a few Butts (You try getting in and out of one of those in a crowded bar. Hint: Leave the spurs in the pickup truck.)

Sports Bar

Readers' Choice: Fox & Hound English Pub & Grille, 604 Main St, FW

Critic's Choice: Fox & Hound, 6051 SW Loop 820, FW

Not for the strict wallet-watcher. A pint of Bud Lite will set you back $3.50. On the other hand, Fox & Hound has more than 100 brands of ice-cold beer, a good if not great selection of Irish and Scotch whiskeys, and possibly a zillion TV sets, all tuned to sports, at least one of which is visible from anywhere in three large rooms. It's also got 10 of the best pool tables in town, three Nodor dart boards – those in the know can explain what that means – fantastic finger food, leather couches to relax in if your opponent is ruining your day, and a 24-foot bar shuffleboard that's oiled to perfection.

Jesse Sierra Hernandez and Pussyhouse Propaganda, classic punk and metal posters, and layers of stickers from the best bands you never got around to seeing. But damned if Embargo hasn't charmed us right out of our guayaberas. If you couldn't guess by the name, the downtown club, which used to be co-owned by Wreck honcho Brian Forella, is built around a Cuban theme that's convincing enough to have brought a tear to Papa Hemingway's eye. Amid the flicker of votive candles, patrons flit between smoky shadows and Havana-inspired murals, their murmurs mingling with the jazzy, Afro-Caribbean soundscapes. After a few mojitos, the walls and palms and rusty ease will make you think you're in The Godfather, Part II. Johnny Ola and Hyman Roth would be proud.

Biker Bar

Readers' choice: Underground Icehouse & Grill, 1117 E Belknap St, FW

Critic's choice: Underground Icehouse & Grill

This fun little joint on Belknap Street downtown draws a big crowd of bikers, and we understand why. The drinks are pretty cheap, the music is loud and fast, the managers run an amateur poker league, and they have nice bartenders and waitresses. So nice in fact, they get up on the bar and dance around in their underwear framed with leather chaps – the waitresses, that is. Thursday is officially bike night, but the motorcycles are always parked out front – though you don't have to have a bike to appreciate all that the Underground has to offer. Just a pulse ... and the correct equipment.

Gay Bar

Readers' choice: Stampede Club, 621 Hemphill St, FW

Critic's choice: Stampede

Take the small dance floor in this establishment that formerly housed The Corral Club as a hint: Flaunting your excellent sense of rhythm is not the Stampede way. This is Fort Worth's version of your classic gay male "cruise bar," a place where you're more likely to meet Mr. Right Now than Mr. Right. But you can also just chill with an Absolut on ice after you've served your daily cubicle sentence. The bartenders are attentive, the drink specials never stop, and Stampede hosts regular charitable events for the community.

Lesbian Bar

Readers' choice: Best Friends, 2620 E Lancaster Av, FW

Critic's choice: Best Friends

The Fort Worth "queer" bar scene has suffered a lot of casualties over the last few years, resulting in some pretty limited choices. As a result, Best Friends offers the best in Sappho socializing even though it also has a pretty good mixture of gay men. Weekend nights are the best time for the gals – they come out in force to shoot pool, dance, and partake of the great drink specials, all in a decidedly low-pressure atmosphere.

Wine Bar

Readers' choice: Sapristi, 2418 Forest Park Blvd, FW

Cocktail Lounge

Readers' choice: Ten, 835 Foch St, FW

Critic's choice: The Oui Lounge, 3509 Bluebonnet Circle, FW

If you're an adult, you're probably already resigned to the fact that most of the garbage your parents yelled about while you were growing up is, unfortunately, true. It's also probably why you drink. And after enduring annoying meetings, or kids or spouses all day long, you deserve to suck down some Seven-and-Sevens without having to suffer yammering TV noise or Johnny Fratguys popping each other's collars. Lucky for you, some saint invented cocktail lounges. Our favorite is "The Oui," as we call it. Yes, it's technically within TCU territory, but the wood paneling, low lights, and stiff libations provide a mellow respite from the strains of adulthood and the passions of youth.

Cocktail Lounge: (Legacy Award)

Critic's choice: JJ's Hideaway, 3305 W 7th St, FW

This little Westside gem nestled under some shade trees on a small triangle of land between West Seventh and Darcy streets is a rarity these days: an old-fashioned cocktail lounge where friends can gather to sip a favorite drink while they talk of cabbages and kings, listen to soft music that doesn't drown out the conversation, or just sit at the well-stocked bar and banter with the bartender. "JJ's," as it's lovingly known, exudes laid-back comfort. Its large, upholstered chairs, dark wood tables, and tall windows seem to expand the small space. There's a wood-burning fireplace for winter coziness and a few small tables tucked in dark corners for lovers. The drinks are also top-shelf. Bad news: Go enjoy it while you can, because it's due to close early next year, another victim of Cultural District redevelopment.

Pub

Readers' choice: Finn MacCool's, 1700 8th Av, FW

Critic's choice: Ye Olde Bull and Bush, 2300 Montgomery St, FW

Trying to find a traditional "pub" here in the States is difficult – in Europe, a pub does more than just serve drinks. It often has another business associated with it (like a funeral home), in addition to being a "publican house" or a gathering place where locals go to let off some steam. Ye Olde Bull and Bush fits the bill 'round here. Plus, owner Nick Gregory is always on hand to keep things lively.

Bar Décor

Readers' choice: Embargo, 210 E 8th St, FW

Critic's choice: Embargo

We're going to miss the Wreck Room. Within its dingy environs lurked the iconic, cinematic murals of skirts that when you say goodbye, instead of crying, they'll decide to show you: "I'll show you I'm still attractive, you creep!" your ex will say, then turn and find one of the meatheads/airheads to flirt with. And that takes you off the hook. Just don't tell 'em we told you.

Place to Take a First Date

Readers' Choice: Cutting Edge Haunted House, 1701 E Lancaster Av, FW

Critic's Choice: Merchants Row, north of I-20 at Matlock Road, Arlington.

This shopping complex north of I-20 offers a number of fine restaurants, including an option for dinner and a movie in the same place (Studio Movie Grill). The gigantic parking lot is a terrible waste of land, but it also reduces the noise on the sidewalks near the stores, creating opportunities for deep talks on long walks. You can even dine al fresco without having car exhaust blown onto your meal. For a strip mall, this is pretty nice – you can save the more impressive, romantic locales until you know whether dates 2 and 3 will be happening.

Place to Eavesdrop

Readers' choice: Panther City Coffee Co., 2918 W Berry St, FW

Critic's choice: Luby's Cafeteria, 251 University Dr, FW

Shhhh! Don't tell anybody, but Fort Worth Police Department's honchos can often be found dining early afternoons at this cafeteria. If you sit at a nearby table, you might overhear Police Chief Ralph Mendoza and his staff deep in discussion about work-related issues. Fort Worth Weekly writers have tried eavesdropping, hoping to pick up information about murder investigations, covert operations, and speed trap locations, but the conversations are so eye-glazingly dull that the writers usually drift off into catatonic states and wake up with faces buried in pea salad, surrounded by cops yelling, "Emergency, 10-52! 10-52!" (If you eavesdropped on cops more often, you'd know that 10-52 is radio code for "resuscitator needed.")

Place to Nurse a Hangover

Readers' choice: Ol' South Pancake House

Critic's choice: Las Pericas, 915 E Northside Dr, FW

Hair of the dog and stomach lining of the cow are great elixirs with which to detoxify yourself on a rough morning. Check out this little Northside restaurant, and don't let the faded sign and proximity to a run-down motel scare you. Las Pericas has tasty food at low prices and plenty of window seating for some added Vitamin D. Eat a bowl of menudo with extra onions and a burrito on the side, catch some rays from a comfy booth, and carry in a tall boy of your favorite cerveza to wash it all down. You'll be good as new – or at least ready to go home, hit the couch, and watch fishing shows out of one eye for the rest of the day.

Duce) renovated and renamed the beer garden and added a menu of hamburgers, fries, onion rings, and homemade chips – all of them divine whether you're drunk or sober, and completely affordable.

DIY Venue

Critic's choice: X-treme Dudes Manor, 1119 Frame St, Denton

With its cheeky name and maniac keg rages, X-treme Dudes Manor injects North Texas punk with some desperately needed menace. Think of it as the anti-Door. In contrast to the screaming weenies at the aforementioned Christian hard-rock club, Denton's XDM is a home for beer and bad language, where your speaker cabinet is as likely to get kicked in as your face. If you go there and feel like you've time-traveled back to 1982, that's part of the idea. The house parties sport a revolving roster of elite local hardcore acts including ANS and Koji Kondo, and it's as far removed from Warped-Tour pretenders as you can get.

Best Place to Meet Members of the Opposite Sex

Readers' choice: City Streets, 425 Commerce St, FW

Critic's choice: City Streets

Club, bar, and meat market rolled into one, City Streets is the best place to see the best-looking members of the opposite sex. There are three types of clubs under one roof – '70s and '80s music, techno, and modern – and they all offer pool, darts, and karaoke. The cover isn't bad, especially considering how much there is to do inside, and drink prices are reasonable. The biggest downside may be the sheer amount of people, but what's that old saying about "more fish in the sea?"

Place to Meet Someone of the Same Sex

Readers' choice: Stampede Club, 621 Hemphill St, FW

Critic's choice: Q Cinema's monthly screenings and annual festival

The Fort's annual film festival for gay, lesbian, bisexual, and transgendered audiences (and their straight pals) celebrated its ninth year in May. The late-spring festival itself offers numerous receptions and parties for the same-sex-lovin' crowd, but Q Cinema also has monthly screenings throughout the year, and the pre- and post-screening receptions for these offer the chance for unofficial speed-dating kinds of chat with others seeking The Love That's Finally Able to Speak its Name.

Place to Break Up

Readers' Choice: Stampede Club, 621 Hemphill St, FW

Critic's Choice: Electric Cowboy, 8740 Camp Bowie Blvd W, FW

Some people think you should break up when you're in another city. Some say the best time is after great sex. But in Fort Worth, the best place to say goodbye is on a Friday night at the Electric Cowboy, way out west on Camp Bowie. Why? Because he or she is gonna cry when you tell them you don't want them anymore. Or scream. Or get out a kitchen knife and turn you into sushi. But at the Electric Cowboy on Friday nights, there are enough young studs in cut-off shirts and girls in short demolished soon to make way for some fancy high-rises and stuff, which will send Dré a few blocks away to 6th Street Live. Look – and listen – for him there.

Local Rock Star

Readers' choice: Brandin Lea of Flickerstick and
The February Chorus

Critic's choice: Chance Morgan, The Burning Hotels

Frontman for the Fort's premier indie-pop band,
Morgan is a New World rock star: He doesn't over-indulge (as far as we know), nor does he pull that holier-than-thou act on fans and other musos. He's just smart, serious, and cool. And he can play the shit out of that guitar. The only thing stereotypically rock-star-ish about him may be his mod look.

Club DJ

Readers' choice: DJ Manny Cruz, Neon Moon

Critic's choice: Andrew Blanchard, Halo

A good club DJ is like a CSI profiler. All the DJ has to do is momentarily observe the party people – what are they wearing? drinking? acting like when no one's looking? – and he or she knows exactly what to play. Blanchard, the resident DJ at Halo in TCU-land, knows that his regular crowd of students wants to feel cosmopolitan but not too club-kiddish. His answer is smooth house with a lot of Afro-Caribbean and world flavors, making for a perfect blend of dance music that's mature and accessible but still progressive enough to qualify as non-commercial.

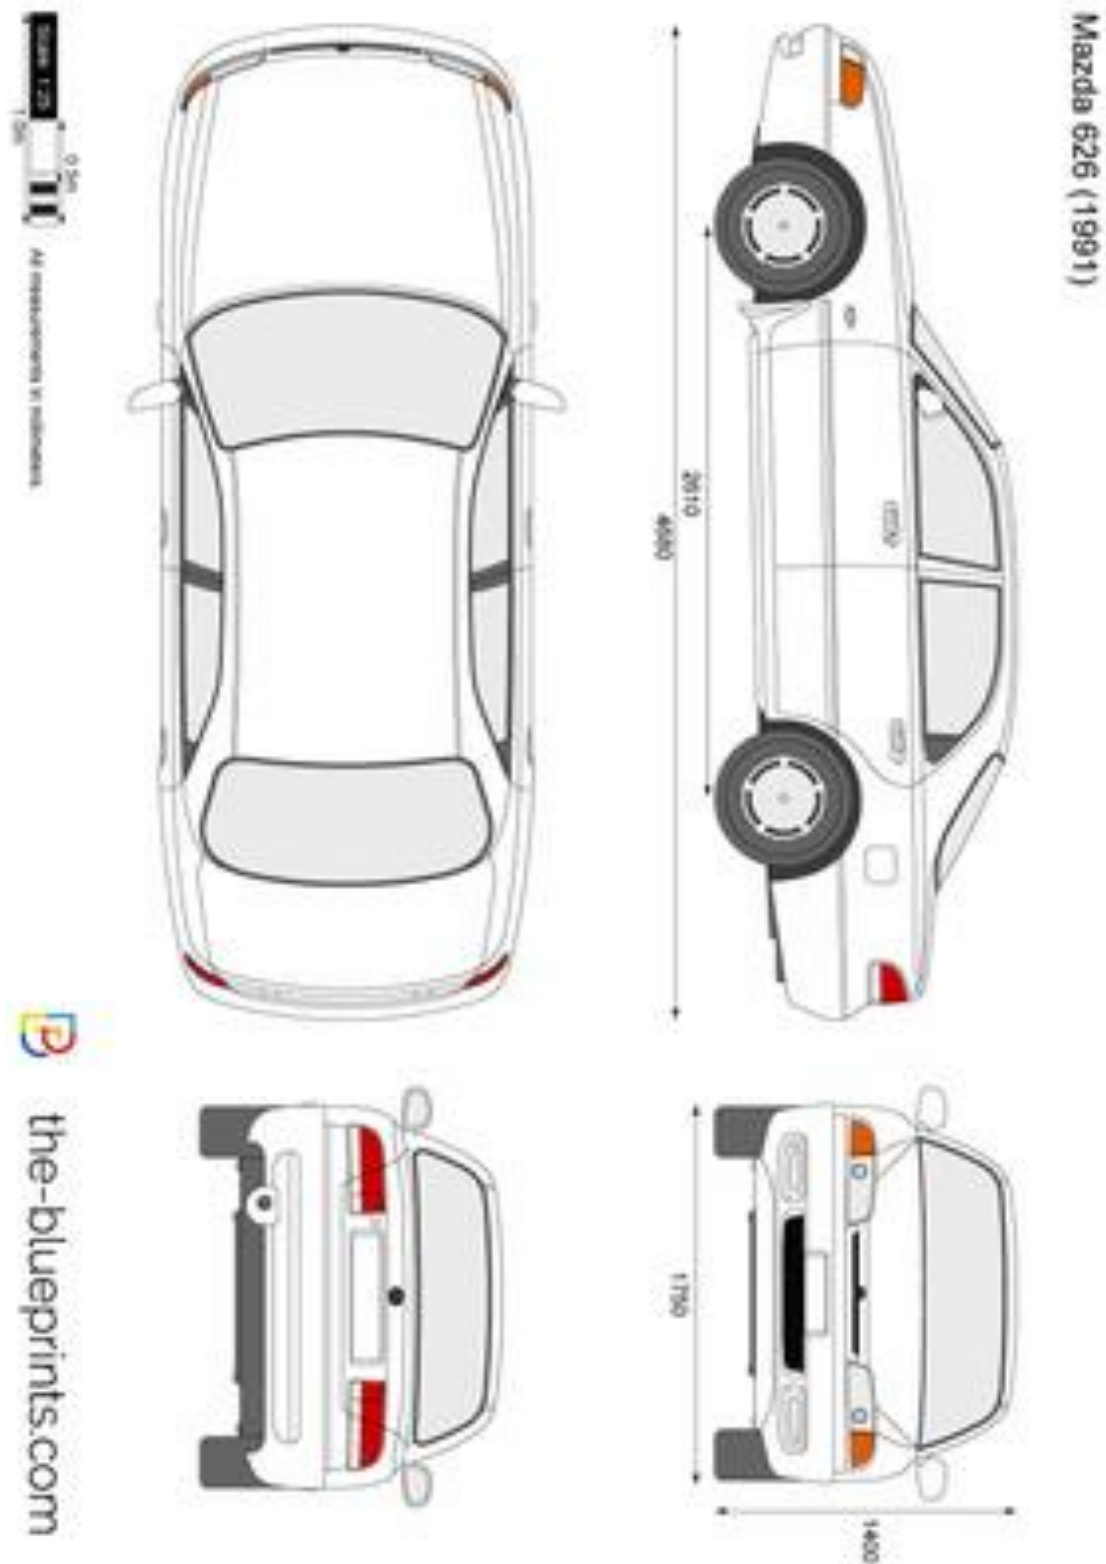

Bar Food

Readers' choice: The Flying Saucer, 111 E 4th St, FW

Critic's choice: Love Shack, 110 E Exchange Av, FW

For years, the White Elephant Beer Garden was a great place to kick back on an outdoor patio, listen to Texas Music, and get toasted on cerveza. Eventually, though, the munchies would kick in and force an exit to one of the nearby steakhouses or barbecue joints, or, more likely, a visit to the nearby Jack in the Box for a sack full of cheap tacos, which are somehow deliriously delicious when you're drunk and completely inedible when you're sober. Earlier this year, local chef Tim Love (Lonesome Dove,

EVIDENCE:

Received at Property Control on November 26, 2002 at 1610 hours from V. Spencer by R. Fazio

Submitted by H. P. Gass on Invoice # 02C01242

1. One (1) Norinco model SKS caliber 7.62 x 39mm rifle, serial number 19165, with magazine
- 2-5: Four (4) Winchester 7.62 x 39 mm cartridges
6. One (1) Federal 12 Gauge slug cartridge

Submitted by W. L. Waller on Invoice # 02C01100

- 7-9: Three (3) 12 Gauge shot shell plastic wads
10. One (1) Federal 12 Gauge shotshell, damaged
11. One (1) Federal 12 Gauge shotshell

Received in Crime Lab on December 3, 2002 at 1000 from J. Deleon by R. L. Adkins

12. One (1) bullet jacket fragment

RESULTS:

Items 1 - 6, 10, and 11 were processed for the presence of latent fingerprints. No latent prints of usable quality were developed.

The item 1 is a functional firearm with a single-action trigger pull of approximately 3 1/4 pounds. The rifle is rifled with four lands and grooves with a right hand twist.

The item 2 cartridge was chambered in the item 1 rifle. Item 2 exhibits signs of a light firing pin blow. The item 12 bullet jacket fragment was fired from the item 1 rifle.

The items 10 and 11 shotshells were fired in the same firearm.
